DEVERY DAY AT ROCKAWAY.

mic BILL SAYS CONNORTON WILL RUN ON HIS TICKET.

His is a Women's Fight, He Says, for New tionnets and Silk Shoe Laces-Raps Jerome, Myer, Low and Tammany, and Hands Out Oodles of Bills for Booze

"Big Bill" Devery practically owned Rosaway Beach yesterday. It was Devery and there was wild rejoicing among showmen and fakirs Beginning with a dril by the Seaside Hose Company, the festivities ran through several stages until midnight, when a rigorous enforcement of the Excise law compelled the crowds to return to the city.

Devery was welcomed at the depot by a rattle of thunder and a shower. The hose company was also there. "Big Bill" mounted the cart and shouting, "hit, git an," drove in state to the New York Hotel. speech," yelled the crowd.

"Have a drink, sports," replied Devery. When the glasses had been drained the Bug candidate for Mayor climbed up to the bileony and said

"I wish to thank any of the beach peepul who are present this afternoon, which is known as Devery and Conorton Day comknown as Devery and Conorton Day combined. I came to this beach twenty-seven years ago. I never was anywhere else, an' I'm astonished at the condition existin' here, an' that the peepul stand for it.

"But it's the old story: No matter what we do for the political grafter, we get nothin' for it. We must put the gun on our shoulders and fight 'em good and hard."

Here some one interupted to tell Devery that District Attorney Jerome was being sued for a board bill for some witnesses.

"How the mighty are fallen," said Devery.
"I am surprised to hear that Brother Jerome would owe money. If I had his job I'd be givin' money to the peepul, an' it wouldn't be no graft neither.

They can say what they like about me, at me an' say, 'I owe a dollar.' An' no matter what they may say in the future, while I was Chief of Police, four years, dI gave the peepul all the personal liberty they wanted, an' a liberal construction of the law. The records of the department show that, and they a so show there was never nothin' out of the way. Everything was consistant, moved along nicely, and the peepul were not deprived of breathing room.

"To-day there is nothin' in New York city but holdups and robbery an' persecution of the peepul. They wanted to make a scape goat or a nanny goat of me, but if they think they can do that they've got another think. I won't permit 'em to make anything but a man out of me. "Now this is not Mr. Devery's fight. I'm just a figgerhead. Vote for me and you act as emissaries in the cause of yourselves.

"You want fair play? That's the only way to get it.

"Lots of peepul would like to see me floating face down in the channel yonder. They got what they could outer me and want to toss me by the wayside. But Big Bill won't toss. He's like the boom-a-rang when he comes back somebody goes

Turning to Magistrate Connorton, Dev-

Turning to Magistrate Connorton, Devery said:

"The man who is here to-day with me is being toyed with by the political tricksters of Queens. He has done everything he could for them, and in return they would do him. He has helped them outer many a hole. What is the consequence? Back to the woods for his. Now let the peepul stand for the Devery ticket and the independent nominee for County Clerk, the Hon. Luke J. Connorton, will win.

"Peepul here are livin' under a system of taxation without representation, paying as much taxes as in New York an' gettin nethin' for it. Bad roads all along the line, sewers outer repair, garbage uncellected. Stink water is pumped from typhoid springs by Cord Meyer, an' you got to drink it at this price or go without."

A cloud of dust caused the speaker to "Poisses."

ACTOR DROPPED WITH STAGE. The Bouble Mechanism at the Madison Square Too Much for Carter.

Robert Payton Carter, who plays the Mormon Bishop in "My Wife's Husbands" at the Madison Square Theatre, was lost for fifteen minutes at the matinee yesterday and his sudden disappearance interfered with the play.

The theatre has a double stage which worked by electricity like an elevator. The first and second acts are set on the lower part, but the third act requires new scenery, and the upper part of the stage is used. After the second act yesterday afternoon, Carter walked out on the stage ready to go on in the third act.

The stage had not yet been dropped and the stage manager didn't know there was anybody on it. He turned the lever that sends the stage downward and it went with Carter standing in the centre.

There is a drop of forty feet, and Carter found hi nself in darkness when the elevator stage stopped. He groped about in the darkness for nearly ten minutes before he found a ladder in the rear part of the stage. He cil not know where the ladder led to, but he climbed it. At the top he found himself in another dark passage. He crawled through this, and after climbing half a dozen steps he found himself on the theatre floor behind the scenes.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Royle opened the third act and Carter was supposed to come on third act and Carter was supposed to come on soon after. When he didn't respond to his cue, a search was made for him. No one knew where he had disappeared to until he came out of an unused passageway. dusty and grimy.

Word was sent to Mr. and Mrs. Royle to keep the action of the play going, and Carter got on in time to save the day.

WOMAN ACCUSED OF BURGLARY. Mrs. O'Hara Missed Her Jewelry After a

Call by a Former Servant. Mary McNeece, 24 years old, of 209 Schermerhorn street, Brooklyn, was locked up in the Adams street police station last night charged with burglary. On Aug. 27 she went to the home of Mrs. Lillian O'Hara of 173 Duffield street, where she had been formerly employed. Mrs. O'Hara was out. When she returned she found her trunk broken open. A go'd hunting case watch and a chain, valued at $75, a diacase watch and a chain, valued at $75, a diamond stud valued at $40, and $14 in cash were missing. In leaving the O'Hara house the former servant dropped a card received from a hospital where she had been under treatment. The card led to the woman's arrest. She had pawn tickets for a part of Mr. O Hara's jewelry in her possession.

WOMEN AS PHOTOGRAPHERS.

An Unnecupled Field for Women of Good Taste and a Desire for Independence. Several men and women were talking about woman's work and the possibilities of her success in the professions, when a man who had evidently given some thought to the sub-ject took the floor and made the following remarks, which may be helpfully suggestive to capable women who have not yet entered upon their appropriate careers.
"No finer opportunity for professional succapable women who have not yet entered upon their appropriate careers.

"No finer opportunity for professional success is presented to women, especially to young women," he said, "than may be found in the practically unoccupied field of photography. This is at once an art, a profession and a business, and young women who might hesitate at law or medicine, or would decline to sell groceries or real estate, or would be unequal to a career in art as the term is generally understood, can find in photography a combination which answers all their requirements and removes all doubt as to the propriety of women in the professions.

"Possibly in the largest cities the opportunity is less than in smaller communities, because in these cities higher standards are demanded, more money is required and competition is greater. But in the lesser cities and in the towns the field is almost entirely unoccupied by women, particularly in the towns of from 10,000 population down. I know personally of dozens of the smaller towns in which there are no woman photographers, both men, and their 'galleries' were of the kind usually found in such towns. There were words and their 'galleries' were of the kind usually found in such towns. MEET THE BLACKMAIL ISSUE.

NIXON ADVISES TAMMANY THAT ONLY SO SHE CAN WIN.

Tricks. Subterfuges or Insincerities Will Avail to Save a Bad Ticket and a Bad Policy From Defeat-May Be a Hint From an Available Candidate.

Lewis Nixon, whom Richard Croker made leader of Tammany Hall for a brief and unsatisfactory period-unsatisfactory both to Mr. Nixon and the district leaders of the wigwam-issued a statement yesterday implying a criticism of Leader Murphy's supposed policy in the coming campaign and declaring that Tammany must have local issues to win on and cannot hope for victory on the mere ground that the following year is to be marked by State and national elections.

Tammany was saying last night that the statement might be looked upon as an admission that Mr. Nixon would like to run for Mayor. It was suggested that he might be able to get the backing of Kings County.

Mr. Nixon's statement said in part:

Certain highly important facts ought to be taken into consideration by the Democratic leaders at the outset of the municipal campaign. I am quite sure that a large body of the Democratic voters already have these facts in view, and that they are disposed to act upon them whether the leaders do or not. Wrong conception or inadequate appreciation of these facts on the part of the Democratic leaders may easily make the approaching campaign a repetition of the teampaign of 1901 so far as the Issues which attract nonpartisans or independent Democrats go.

This is a year—preceding a Presidential election—when Democrats and Republicans will naturally cling to their party alignments. That should mean a Democratic plurality of 100,000 in the city election. It would mean that plurality if the Democratic electorate of this city possessed the same confidence in its cause which it possessed, for instance, in 1902, when it cast a plurality of 122,000 votes for its candidates in the State election.

The Democratic electorate of the city has not, however, possessed this essential confidence in its cause for many years. To demonstrate this fact it is only necessary to refer to the municipal elections of the past ten years in old New York and Brooklyn, the two principal cities united by the charter of 1898.

There have been five city elections in Brooklyn and Manhattan within that time. Mr. Nixon's statement said in part:

impressions on purely municipal issues.

Any calculation of results which does not take these facts into account is of little value, and any preparations for the campaign which are not made in recognition of them are worse than useless. The battle will be are worse than useless. The battle will be won or lost on local issues that are old enough to have gained a permanent hold on the public mind.

These issues are police blackmail and that mercenary spirit which breeds dishonesty in the public service. To them may be charged all the party's recent loss of local prestige. The Democracy has not been beaten on these issues by Republican votes alone, by any means. It has been beaten chiefly by Democratic votes. It must be apparent that continued repression of the Democratic spirit of reform, which has manifested itself in the recent enormous defections from the party ranks, only serves to guarantee further disaster. It is equally plain that no subterfuge or tricky expedients or insincerities of any description will make a bad ticket or a bad policy acceptable to the rank and file of the Democratic party of the city has all the issues in its favor except these two. It is easily within its power to throw off their dead weight when it makes up its mind to do so. Its right to dominancy will be restored as soon as it does. There can be no doubt of the result of any campaign in which the party explicitly and without equivocation commits itself to the reform for which the city has four times voted in ten years. are worse than useless. LITTAUER'S BOOM A SURPRISE. Many of His Constituents Couldn't Believe

He Would Seek Re-election. UTICA, Sept. 5.-Congressman Littauer, who entertained Gov. Odell, Congressman James S. Sherman and other persons prominent in the political arena at a dinner in Gloversville Thursday night, sprung a big surprise upon his constituents when he launched his boom for reelection. The scandal which has surrounded the Congressman's name following the revelations in the glove contract affair and Littauer's conceded political acumen warranted the belief that he would retire from the political stage when his present term had expired. The surprise, therefore, hereabouts at the launching of his boom for another term in Congress is great. It is understood that Littauer's ambitions have the hearty indorsement of Gov. Odell. The Utica Observer to-night, commenting on Littauer's boom, says:

tauer's boom, says:

So Congressman Littauer has the effrontery to consider a renomination? We had not believed that this could be so. Blunted as his moral sensibilities have seemed to us to be in his connection with glove contracts in two departments of the Federal Government, we gave him credit for sufficient political acumen to see that the reports of his connection with these contracts, unless utterly disproved—and that they could be has not any time seemed probable—would mean the inevitable wrecking of all political future for him. Does he suppose that by consenting to a renomination he can convince those who are voters in his balliwick that he has been unjustly accused and that he is deserving of another term in Congress? We are not inclined to believe that "Loot" Littauer's constituents will take this view of the case.

WOMEN FIRE OWN HOME?

POLICE DISCREDIT THEIR TALE

Letter of Warning to Mother Believed to Have Been Written by Daughter -Latter Thought to Have Sent Scurrilous Letters to Dr. Francis J. Ward.

OF AN INCENDIARY.

Mrs. Mary Malerome, 55 years old, of 236 Twelfth street, Brooklyn, and her daughter Mamie, 22 years old, were arrested yesterday afternoon by Police Captain James Reynolds of the Fifth avenue station on suspicion of arson. They were sent to the Adams street station, where there is a matron. Their home, a two-story and basement frame structure, was nearly destroyed by fire at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, and, although they strove to make it appear that some enemy had fired it to drive them from the neighborhood, the police and Fire Marshal Beers are convinced that there is no truth in the story.

The strongest proof the authorities have against the women is a letter which came to the Twelfth street house yesterday morning several hours after the fire. This letter bore the Coney Island postmark and was under date of Friday. It was addressed to Mrs. Makrome and the contents were a notification to her that she'd better vacate her house at once or it would be burned. The women and her daughter were at Coney Island on Friday, and it is believed that the daughter wrote the letter there.

Capt. Reynolds had Mamie do some writing in the station house, and it proved to be a good duplicate of that in the letter. The first knowledge that the neighbors had of the fire was when the two women The first knowledge that the heighbors had of the fire was when the two women were heard screaming on the sidewalk in front of their home. There had been so much of such noises from this hotte during the past six months that at first not much attention was paid to them. Some of the sleepy neighbors stuck their heads out of their windows and advised the women to get inside and stop their noise. It was nearly fifteen minutes later before an alarm of fire was sounded. Then the fire had spread to the roof and communicated to the adjoining dwelling of John James, which was damaged about $1,000. The Malcromes claim a damage of $2,000.

There has been trouble between the Malcromis and some of the neighbors for more than a year. Dr. Francis J. Wood of 152 Fourteenth street believes that Mamie is the author of a stock of epistles he has received. When the first of the physician's letters came their contents were of an amorous nature, but toward the last they were very scurrilous. Some were obtained by Care Bangales who says thay are in

A character in the play, Capt. GRANVILLE M. HOY, Sheridan. Ind., Past Grand, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Lodge 691, in a recent letter says:

Asked if he would take American priests to the Philippines, Archbishop Harty said:

"I shall make use, as far as possible, of the native priests. I believe in this policy. It cannot be too strongly enforced. Of course, I should like to have some American priests there, and I believe that they would prove of great value to us in the work.
